“ *Dear Melissa and Jeff, We were so saddened to hear of the loss of your son, Adam. Words cannot convey how our hearts go out to you all. I spoke with Cheryl Bishop today and she told me that you and Danica are recovering well physically. She also said you were being well cared for by your church family. I'm so glad you have that comfort especially now. We didn't get the chance to meet Adam but I know he must have been special because I know he has a really special mom. We have wonderful memories of you teaching Tyler at the N. Atlanta Preschool. May God give you peace and the strength during this time. We love you and we are keeping the whole family in our prayers. “ Dear Melissa and Family, I cannot even begin to describe how saddened I was to read of the accident on the newspaper's website today. “Cage Bundy is my son and played with Adam on Levi Robinson's Sharpsburg White Sox last spring. I know there are no words that can console you at this time, but just know that you have lots of family, friends, acquaintances, and people you've never met before praying for your entire family. The loss of Adam hit so close to home with me as Cage is only ten years old as well. As I drive my daughter to ECHS every day, we pass by Adam's cross and it always reminds me to be a little more careful as I drive, to tell my family that I love them every day, and to appreciate all the things that I do have in my life. I have been praying for your family every day since I heard about the accident and will continue to lift your family up in prayers.

“ Jeff, Melissa, and family: Words are not adequate to express the heartfelt sorrow with the sudden loss of Adam. Faith consists in believing when it is beyond the power of reason to believe. You must know that Adam was here for a reason and your family bond could never be broken. Please keep your heart open to the many gifts of love you will be receiving in the near future. Revelation 21:4 He will wipe every tear from their eyes. There will be no more death or mourning or crying or pain, for the old order of things has passed away. I extend my deepest condolences.

“ Jeff, Melissa and family: My heart is wrenched and I suffer alongside of you for your loss. I don't just feel sympathy; but empathy. I am the grandmother of 12 and my hearts puts me in your place and I suffer with you. It is my prayer that you will find more love and comfort from family and friends that you can ever understand; and that God will be more real to you than ever before in your life. Just remember that Adam is not gone; but just gone before. We are all appointed once to die and we prefer not to outlive our children; but in all of this, God was not taken by surprise. He lost His Son as well and in our finite minds we cannot understand why He would give His only Son for us; and we can't understand why we have to lose loved ones especially those so young an innocent. I hope it is okay that I posted on my article the funeral notice and will post this link so that people who read but did not know Adam will be able to let you know how this has touched their souls as well. When you are able please Google Grief/Share and request the e-mails that then send out. They will come one a day for 365 days and many days after my husband died so tragically, they were all that kept me going. Soon people have to go back to work and to their lives and that will be a time when these e-mails will speak as God to your heart and will help you through some of the hardest days. If you should ever need a friend to listen and encourage you, please contact me at Lifedesignihs@aol.com. I pray that Melissa and the baby are recovering and will continue to recover physically at a rapid pace and will soon be fully recovered. You are not alone - this has touched the hearts of people far and wide. I pray that this tragic event will draw you all closer together as a family. If you will get in touch with me, I will share with you the many things we did as a family after my husband's death to honor him together every month after the first year of his death. These little exercises helped up all to that final day when we could truly let him go.
