“ Alan and I became friends back in 2004 through a men's group held at Crossroads Church in Sharpsburg. It was easy to become friends with him, he was warm and friendly, a handsome fellow with a lot of charisma, but a deep sincerity as well. He was the kind of man you could count on to listen to your troubles, because he truly cared about other people, and I respected Alan as a compassionate christian and a leader of men. We sadly lost touch after I divorced and moved to N.C. in 2008, and I just heard this sad news last night. My heart has been so heavy, but I have peace in knowing Alan went to be with his Lord and Savior. Its his wife and children that will need our prayers now, and they can count on mine and many others I've asked to pray.

“ Dear family, I am sorry that we never got to meet but feel as if we had because Alan touched so many lives. Every person he touched was left with with a lasting relationship that really meant so much to each of us. Alan is with God now but wanted you to know that his family is at the top of our prayer list. God will help you at this time if you only ask. Good bless each of you.
