“ Very late I stumbled on this sad news that Marilyn and Sam are gone. As you might know, my parents, Jan and Bill King, were such close friends--none closer. Unfortunately they left this earth just a few years earlier. My mother was a friend of Marilyn from kindergarten, I think, and both my parents were her friends at Lehman High School. You could hardly count the number of evenings they played cribbage together--cocktails, dinner, golf, all of that was more enjoyable when they were with the Kings. And the vacations in Canada or Louisiana. When Marilyn and Sam came to my parents' funerals, I could tell their loss was immense. And now I feel their loss. I remember, when I visited my parents, how nice it was to visit with the Kings--as long as the subject of politics did not come up. What sweet and humorous people. And here's a stray memory. I remember Marilyn in about 1960 helping to get me dressed on the day my mother's father died. She had such a great laugh, and my brothers and I were having fun, even on that sad day. All things must pass, and I guess it is up to us to keep up the spirit, as Marilyn and Sam did.

“ My prayers are with you at this time. Both Sam and Marilyn were very dear people. Remember them both coming to Sams Club and talking about their ages and they still golfed. I was the youngsters and Marilyn the oldest cousins left in town. Think about them often since they left town They are missed

“ Great memories of Sam and his family. I grew up across the street, our dads were great fishing buddies and sister Jean was an occasional baby sitter. My thoughts are with you.
