“ Wanda, Hope, Kay, Tammy, Kenny, Curtis & Rodney... I just wanted to let you know how much my heart hurts for all of you. We all know that he isn't suffering or in pain anymore, and in our minds, we know that is best and can give thanks. However, I know that your heart just wants him here, happy & healthy & laughing with you again. I believe that he would understand your tears but would really be happy to hear the laughter through them as each of you tell the memories you shared with him. I imagined him watching over all of us at the funeral home last night and smiling as we remembered his life. I know that he would have wanted to comfort all of his children and grandchildren and friends....and I know that he is proud that you were all there for each other. Edward, along with Momma & My Daddy, helped to prepare me for my life by teaching me that you didn't have to fight & argue over children. You could put the love for your children above the anger & hurt of a divorce and all share in the love of a family. He helped to teach me to put others above self, where it counts & that being "family" isn't always determined by blood. I love him for that. I feel so blessed to say that he, and all of you & your families are my family. I love you and am always here if you need me....that's what families are for... Love, Tracey (aka: Fatgirl, Pesky little sister to 6 of you, Big Sister to 1 of you, & Aunt Tracey to a whole bunch of nieces & nephews!)
