“ I enjoyed the mornings with Eddie as he would come down to Halls Grocery and buy his morning paper. We talked about politics and the Braves and the news in our community of Major Georgia or the Bloody Seventh as he liked to call it. He was a regular at the store just like his Dad before him use to do when he was living. All the old timers of the community would meet there at Halls and talk about the past or good old days as they called them. Mr Eddie will surely be missed by us all. Rest In Peace my friend. Until we meet again. I'll bring a cold Yoo-Hoo for you...
