“ It's September and I'm just now finding out About Mr. Max. He worked for a long time w/my father-in-law & my husband had done work for them as well. And I bought hay from them quite often. I always felt bad when they offered to deliver the hay to me because I live so far from them. He would always say nooo it's OK we want to come up there, we wanna go to town. No sooner than we would get to Rolling hay We would find miss Nancy either in the barn w/the horses or over in the goat pen. I have a great nephew when he was about three he took up w/ Mr. Max. He would match him step for step. He stayed w/me so as soon as we would drive up at their place one of the two Miss Nancy or Mr Max would be going to get him out of the truck. They were both the two sweetest people I know. I moved off but thought of them all the time. I just couldnt get back long enough to go see them. I did make it one afternoon but the house was quiet, still & seemed empty. That alone broke my heart. I called around to several places, couldnt find them. Searched the internet found nothing. All I can figure is as heavy as he alone was on my heart that had to of been him telling me good bye. We all loved them both greatly. Im sure hes still checking in on them grand & great grand children. As well Miss Nancy.

“ Dear Doug and Pat,

Please accept our deepest sympathy. I just realized that we went to high school together. I was Cindy Payton then... Cindy Aldrich now.

For the past few months, we saw Max almost daily as we visited the Memory Care unit at Insignia. My mother-in-law is currently there. Max loved talking to my husband, Stuart. Many, many times, we would ask Max how he was. Always the same answer. "Copacetic!"

Alzheimers is a horrid, monster of a disease. We share your grief for the passing of this sweet man.

Sincerely,

Cindy and Stuart Aldrich
