“ When Harold asked "How are you?" he didn't mean it as passing "hello." He truly wanted to know and he could make you feel like you were the only person in the room by giving his undivided attention. I'll miss his smile, his willingness to pray on the spot, and his radiant personality.

“ Marci and Family, It is so hard to lose someone you love. I hope that it helps to remember that your father is in God's care now. Cherish the memories of how often he laughed, how deeply he loved and how much he cared for all his family. The gift of his love will never end as long as memories last. I pray that you can feel God's strong hands carrying you through this difficult time.

“ Laura and family, It is with such sad hearts and great joy at the time. Sad hearts that we will no see Harold for a while but with joy that he is home and already celebrating with his Savior! What a privilege we have had sitting under his teaching at SonRise. We will miss him dearly but look forward to the time when we all see Jesus and celebrate with Harold! We love you and our prayers are with you as you depend solely on the Father for His peace. We are here to help as so many others. You will continually be in our prayers in these days ahead.

“ My thoughts and prayers are with you Laura and family. I was in Harold's Sunday School Class for several years. He was the best. I learned a lot from him. I also got a lot of laughs from him. I remember he would always say " I hate to chase a rabbit, but." He was a wonderful man and will be missed by many.
