“ Donna, I remember the first time I ever met you. You and Jack drove up to my mother's house in that classic turquoise Mustang convertible--whose horn made a ding and not a honk,if I remember. He introduced us to you, and I remember how happy we all were because Jack seemed so very happy.

Jack and I were first cousins, our mothers were sisters--Hazel and Virginia Amis. He was about 15 years older than I was, and he always looked after my mother and I, the two of us being alone since I was 12. No one would be surprised, but I'll never forget the many kindnesses he showed us.

I'll also never forget the love and care you both gave his mother as long as she lived.

Our whole family loved Jack, and we will miss him dearly. We shall treasure him in our hearts forever. Hank
