“ James had the kindest soul of any man I met. I will never forgot the lessons he taught me. James is the reason I have a love of horses. I will cherish our raining day garage talks. I will never forget Lorrie going missing to ALWAYS find her walking around the horse farm hand in hand with James. The night Lorrie locked me out of the house and James breaking a window just to get in to get her all the while Lorrie giggling at him crawling through the window. I never had to worry about Lorrie, she could come and go as she pleased between the two houses. James, I wish I could turn back time and never leave my little house that you made home for me. Our biscuit and gravy breakfast. The horse shows and the trail rides. You will always have a place in my heart. I will continue to ride and think of you as the wind whispers what you have taught me along the way. God speed - love: Keri

“ A gentleman, a horseman and the truest man I ever knew (next to my daddy). Terry, Kenny and family, my heart breaks for your loss but rejoices in his memories! You have been blessed as we all have for having James in our life.
