“ Libby and Sonja - I was saddened to find out about Kayla's death. My thoughts and prayers have been with you. I did not get back from Alabama in time to attend the funeral and I really hate that because I wanted to pay my respects to all of you. I never met Kayla but felt like I knew her because of my friendship with Sonja and she was always keeping us updated on her health issues. I know that Kayla is at rest and at peace with no more pain in the presence of her Lord and Savior. Love Jeanine Duty

“ I don't even know where to begin, I met such a beautiful soul when I started going to Jekyll n Hyde's N I continued to do events there, this amazing tiny little girl with such a HUGE HEART AND SOUL stole my heart and became a part of my life from that day forward. Our lives had so much in common yet so different, life happens and I moved away from Newnan however stayed in touch with my precious friend and now my heart is just broken, I know Your in peace now but the lives you have touched while here we are all selfish and want you back here with us but my heart knows your no longer in pain and can finally laugh, smile and run and play and do all your heart desires, and I know I will see you again one day my sweet precious friend!!!! I love you Kayla....Libby and George I love you both and praying for your entire family...

“ My thoughts and prayers are with the family and friends of Kayla. I met Kayla at Jekyll & Hydes and seems like every time I went there she was my waitress. I also attended some of the benefits she participated in helping others. She was always so friendly and everyone loved her. She was the person whom everyone could count on as a friend, and would light up the room with her courageous smile. I followed her journey. I prayed for her daily. I will never forget Kayla, she was a fighter whom fought so hard. RIP beautiful..

“ Kayla, words will never express how much you mean to me. You were more of a friend. You were a sister to me. When I moved to Newnan, you and I instantly became close. I will never forget us celebrating my birthday together, our movie nights, and the paintings you made for me. I will keep every memory that we made to heart and cherish it. Kayla, I love you and will miss you dearly. Fly high baby girl.
