“ It was an honor and a privilege to work for Mr Taylor at BellSouth. I've never met a finer person in my life. He and I both have July birthdays and we shared cards every year - I will miss hearing from him. He was truly a man of faith and he lived that faith each and every day. My most sincere condolences to Barbara and the family.

“ Larry was a great mentor of mine. I first met him in Birmingham where I was doing some consulting for him. Later I took a leave from being a Professor at Alabama to work with him when he was heading up the Yellow Pages.

He was a great mentor, teacher, friend, coach, and a person one could really learn from. I called him on a regular basis just to chat after he retired.

After I left Bell South, I returned to the classroom at Alabama teaching strategy. I spent many lectures telling Larry Taylor stories. What a person!

Taylor Quote: There is no limit to how far a person can go as long as they are willing to give the credit to others.

“ The Taylors were our next door neighbors for many years. I couldn’t have asked for better neighbors. They were always friendly and we enjoyed many spur of the moment visits. Larry loved to walk around his beautiful yard and whistle a tune. I always think of him whistling and smiling. We will miss him. All our love to Barbara.

“ I was so saddened to learn of Larry's passing. I had the privilege of working for and with Larry for several years at Southern Bell/BellSouth. He was one of the finest people I've ever known. Larry was incredibly smart and insightful and had a tremendous sense of humor. He held everyone to his high standards, but was fair and friendly to all.

I am so glad that I made the trip to Newnan last year to have lunch with Larry and to join him on a tour of the property and his and Barbara's beautiful home in the Wesley Woods Community, where he was greeted warmly by everyone we saw. His wonderful leadership skills and style clearly followed him into his retirement, and his wit was as sharp as ever. My condolences go out to the entire Taylor family, and especially to Barbara. We have lost a great friend and a great man!
