“ Luke was a great friend and I thank God he came into my life. His speech to me one night about drinking and riding slowed me down a lot. I'll always be grateful for the night he followed me home and chewed me out in my own house. He was a very passionate man and he didn't mind showing his care or love for somebody. RIP Brother. GBNF

“ Still in shock. I just spoke to you a couple weeks ago, when you called to check on me. You also helped me through the death of my golden retriever years ago, by calling every day and just listening to me talk. That was the kind of heart you had. Always thinking of others. Such a loss to so many people. My heart is breaking for his family

“ My deepest condolences to those Luke left behind. We went way, way back to days of riding bicycles, skinned knees and macaroni and cheese. I know time changes people and each go their separate ways but I will always have fond memories of an old friend. A good guy. I never met your boys but know that you loved them from all of your pictures and posts. Fly high friend.

You were the first person we met when we started building our house next to you. I remember sweet Harley sitting on our porch waiting for sausage snacks and you standing in our kitchen having long chats. I've watched your boys grow from babies to men and my heart breaks for them. You will truly be missed.
