“ I couldn't count the stories I have with Marc. When we were young, I was looking for a secret spot to smoke weed before whatever we were doing or where ever we were going. Marc was right there with me as a look out. He didn't smoke but stood there with me while I did. Every time. Without exception.

I first met Marc when we worked together at InterCall. We went on trips together to New Orleans, Savannah, Panama City and countless bars, clubs abd restaurants. Marc was always right there with me.

I remember asking Marc why ge didn't smile in his license picture. He said " I'm not going to be smiling when they pull me over." And we just busted out laughing. I remember another time way back in like 2003 abd Marc was driving my Pontiac Grand Prix because I, of course, was drunk. Marc said "honey, it's gone dead." It's so funny now. The way he would say things.

I could go on and on and on. Marc was one of the few people that was always genuine with me which is something I've come to value above all.else because that was Marcus Eugene Durtough, Above All Else. My confidant, my friend, my brother.

I didn't spell.check or proof read this because I could only do this one time. I apologize for any errors.
