“ I miss talking to you Mark. You could always answer, in detail, questions about our ancestry. You could name all of the plants and flowers. You were very protective of your crepe myrtles and would follow me around while I had the hedge clippers in my hands. You loved growing things - chickadees, peppers, flowers, etc. You loved having coffee with Scott and talking to anyone who would engage in conversation. Everyday I think of something I wish I could talk to you about and realize you are not here anymore. I miss you.
