He was a hero and encourager, a role model for his godly and family values.

Granddaddy had the best jokes he could make anyone laugh. He always loved and supported us. He taught us how to drive and work hard with our hands. He never met a stranger and he helped us see how simple and beautiful life really is.

Granddaddy loved with his whole heart and treated others as his very own. He was always generous sharing his antique treasures with others and I loved our conversations about the bible and funny stories.

Dad taught us a great work ethic. He said never look at the task ahead just work hard and it will be over before you know it.

He raised good sons and a great family. We are all very proud to carry the Meacham name and continue instilling the godly values he always taught to us into our children and grandchildren.
