“ I vividly remember babysitting Brent with my bestfriend & his aunt Jill. I watched him grow up to the loving & kind hearted young man that he was. His heart was the greatest and most evident quality he possessed. Each & every one of us struggle some way or another. Brent's burdens are gone now and I can only imagine how much brighter his radiant smile is above the clouds at peace with our maker. RIP Brent. You are missed more than you could ever imagine. You may be gone but you'll never be forgotten. Thoughts, prayers, and big hugs to Wendi, Mi-mi, Jill and the rest of the family. I love you all.

“ There are so many memories, and all of equal importance. Recently we spend a good amount of time talking about life and where we were, and our beliefs and just everything in general. I was/am so proud of everything you had accomplished even through all of your troubles. You were an amazing friend, a great listener , you always knew how to put a smile on someones face when they needed it the most. your so very missed. My heart is with your family as they get thru this rough time.

“ I have so many memories idk where to begin. The pickle tube. Who’s that what’s this? When we all went to the fair and you and Jeff sprayed Sarah Lauren and I with that stupid fart spray and made me throw up. I had to walk around all night with my clothes inside out to try to mask the smell. Being at factory and you scared the life out of me when you fell head first off the 13 foot ramp just for you to pop up and swear your fine. I had to fight you that night to go home and tell your mom because you were so hard headed. PHfL chillin in your room. Being at the lake house and you waking me up randomly in the middle of the night doing some.. for lack of a way to describe it.. “Brent st”. We used to talk for hours about music, books, conspiracies and old times.

I could go on and on with memories like that, but what I remember most about each of these is how much we laughed. You loved making us laugh anyway you could. Your smile lit up and you were honestly the funniest person I’ve ever met. You were genuine. You were loyal. You were unpredictable. You are unforgettable and you left an impression on everyone you met. Your absence will hurt, and that void will never be filled, but I’m thankful for the getting the chance to experience you and your friendship. It’s never goodbye but always see ya later. ❤️ Love you, B. ❤️ Tacola.

My prayers and deepest condolences to Brents' family. I was a teacher assistant at Northgate several years ago, and when I passed Brent in the halls, he would always smile and say hello. He was a very kind young man and it breaks my heart to hear of him passing away. Love to Mrs. Lynn and family!
