

Nancy Dale Reynolds

May 22, 1948 - November 30, 2015

Nancy Dale Reynolds had a passion for collecting angel figurines of all types. On the afternoon of November 30th she gently slipped into the peaceful arms of God's true angels. Dale was born in Villa Rica, Georgia on May 22, 1948. She was the daughter of the late Delbert and Inez Haynes Freeman. Dale lived a very simple, but full life. She loved her friends who became her clients as their hairdresser. Away from work, she loved art, reading, and, of course, collecting all things angel. She was an angel personified to her beloved husband Charles, "Butch" Reynolds. She blessed the lives of her children Brad (and Deanna) Reynolds, Rhonda (and Joey) Lowery, Tracie (and Ricky) Spradlin. Nothing was more fun for her than being the doting grandmother to Megan and Preston Sewell, Austin and Dustin Spradlin, Gage and Destiny Reynolds. Her life will be remembered fondly at a service on Thursday, December 3, 2015 at 2:00 PM in the chapel of McKoon Funeral Home. Officiating will be Reverend Udell Addison and Chaplain Kenneth Brown. The family will receive friends beginning at 12:00 noon just prior to the service. Interment will follow at Oak Hill Cemetery. Online condolences may be expressed at www.mckoon.com. “ Mom, the pain of losing you never goes away. Yet, my heart is full knowing I will see you and Daddy again. Bless his heart. He waited 9 years in misery to go home. I cannot imagine the arms that wrapped him when he came smiling that huge smile through the pearly gates as if to say, "See...I'm here now!". We may not understand God's plan, but we must trust it. Neither of you are suffering anymore. I pray God has the mercy when it's my turn to come home, he will make it painless and quick. My sweet beautiful parents. Together for eternity. I love you, Momma. Grateful to feel your presence and know you are still watching over me. See you again.....

“ Mom...It's been almost 6 years since I've held your hand. My heart hurts just as much if not more than the day you left. And, when I feel this empty, I just remember the exact moment you left this world. If everyone could have seen your transformation, they would never doubt our God. To have been trapped and dormant in that poor sick little body for more than a week without a word, a tear, a moan, or a movement was wretched. Sickening to watch as you slipped further away day by day. Until....He came. You saved it all for Him. You sat straight up holding mine and Brad's hands. Looking into His face, smiling like you have never smiled before, and then lifting your hands with ours in tow and arms above your head as in to say, "I'm ready, let's go!". Your eyes never left Him. You didn't look away. The look on your face said it all. Whoever would have seen what we were witnessing could never deny there is God, there is His power and His love. The look in your eyes said it all. As if you were looking upon someone you had never seen before, but couldn't wait to wrap your arms around. The love you expressed with your emotional face I had never seen for myself before. The love only God deserves. But, then, just as quick, you just left. Your soulless body just slowly collapsed back into the bed, eyes closed, and smile gone. WOW...to witness your face as you crossed over has been one of the most memorable and incredible moments of my life. It's never the "end" at the "end of life", but only the beginning. Thank you for showing me that, even on your last breath. Thank you for being my Mom and all of your sacrifices. I saw you, Mom. As a mother, a friend, a Christian woman, a mentor, a grandmother, and most of all...an angel on earth.

I love you, and can't wait for the day I see you again. Missing you tremendously until then....
