“ Hey mama,

Today marks two weeks since you passed away. There hasn't been a day that's gone by I haven't thought of you. I sit in your room a lot. I have a few pictures of you in there I look at when I get to missing you, which is a lot. I've slept in there a few nights too. I feel close to you when I'm in your room. I remember so many nights I'd come back and sit with you. We'd sing gospel music together. I sure do miss that. Today I thought of you when we went to eat dinner. I realized we only needed two plates when before we needed three plates. I immediately thought of you and went and sat in your room. I remember so many times a day I would say I Love You, and to hear you say it in return was a given, but now it's silence when I say it. I miss hearing you say it. I cherish the memories. I think of you everyday. I miss you so much mama. I can't wait till we see one another again in heaven. It's what keeps me going.

*I love you mama,
Chris*
