“What a magnificent tribute Dr. Hall paid his father in Newnan! The outline of points regarding the character of the man, the illustrative anecdotes, and the scriptural gems, along with the dignified yet personable delivery, combined to make an outstanding oration. How I wish I could have heard it in person, and perhaps have had a share in the memorial.

I cannot overstate the positive influence of “Mister Hall” during my childhood and adolescence. The Halls and my family shared the blessing of living near our home church, where many of our activities took place. In addition to worship and Sunday School, we had a thriving youth fellowship program, which the Halls sometimes sponsored. We had a softball team, where the Halls were our most loyal fans. Our Scout troop met at the church; Mr. Hall taught the skills needed for advancement and accompanied us on campouts. Last March, my wife and I drove to Newnan so that I could express my heartfelt appreciation to Russell Hall for his encouragement both in Scouts and as our Sunday School teacher. I specifically mentioned a conversation we had in class as we sat on cold, metal folding chairs at the back of our sanctuary. I was struggling to find the proper balance between self-esteem and humility. As Dr. Hall pointed out in his eulogy, his father didn’t hand me a pat answer. Instead, he empathized with my struggle and legitimized my question. I felt accepted, and that feeling never left me, particularly when I recalled that Sunday morning.

Another story I told him during our recent visit was about his role in approving my memorized pieces required for the Bugling merit badge. I appreciated his own background with those bugle calls as well as his son following less than a step behind me in climbing the steps to the rank of Eagle.

My father preceded Mr. Hall in death by nearly 35 years. In fact, the Halls provided wonderful support to our family at the time of each of our parents’ deaths. In the years since, I’ve considered Russell Hall somewhat of a surrogate father. On All Saints Sunday, 2019, less than two weeks before Mr. Hall’s death, I preached a sermon in which I stated that he was one of my still-living saints though I knew I wouldn’t see him again. Truly, he was, for me, both a father-figure and a saint. I'm profoundly grateful for the privilege of having had him in my life.

“ We were blessed to get to know Mr. Russ. He attended our church when he was able. We got to know so much about his life as a survivor of “D” day. He loved history and shared so much about his experiences while serving our country. He received a Quilt of Valor from the local Coweta chapter, and well deserved. His family was so important to him and the great grandchildren brought him so much joy. He will be missed by Beth and me. We loved him and his family. We are so glad we had him come into our lives even though not long enough. Lt. Col. Russell Hall we salute you, a true gentleman and great American.

“ It was an honor to know Mr. Russ. After moving to Newnan, he attended Liberty Christian Church with us. In talking with Mr. Russ, I learned he had a vast knowledge of this world. From trees, grasses, cities and his military service. I find that he was flying out of Laon Air Base, France, just prior to D-Day, living in tents, which were cold and had little amenities. I was there some 17 years later and by then the tents were gone and we had nice warm buildings. To share the landscape of the city of Laon and others was thrilling for me. To be in a location where this gentleman was, to know that he contributed to our freedom, is so humbling and I appreciate him so much. Mr. Russ enriched my life. God, please bless Mr. Russ and his family. Kenneth Helton
