“ Most women have a best friend that is also a woman. Well my best friend was Steve. We go back to childhood in Chicago but became besties as adults. Before he moved to Atlanta not a day went by that we didn't talk and we could talk about everything! After he moved to Atlanta we were frequent visitors because it was hard to separate my husband, Don Berry and Steve. We moved to Florida and his Mom and step dad followed us to the same complex as we live in. His Mom got cancer and Steve, now retired, came to Florida to care for her. Again we seen each other every day. Close friends like Steve don't come along often and I feel so blessed to have had him in our lives. You will be missed my friend. I'm so happy our last words to each other were I love you. RIP
