“ So very sorry that Wayne is gone. I met him in the mid or late sixties when I played drums for the Jackie Watts band. Wayne always came to hear us play and we were always glad to see him. I worked with him in the seventies and he was great to be around. He was a very hard worker taking pride in his trade. He made us laugh all day with his great jokes and sense of humor. I can still remember some of the the things he said to make us laugh and I have quoted him many times over the years. He was the kind of person you were always glad to see and that you never forgot. I last saw him at Rogers Barbecue in Hogansville in June of this year 2020. We had a good and long conversation about old times and I did enjoy seeing him again. He was a good friend and a good man, I am thankful he considered me as his friend. I will miss seeing him and I hope to see him again some day when we all get home.
