

William David Seegar

May 18, 1938 - May 28, 2025

In loving memory of William David Seegar

1938 - 2025

William, 87, passed away peacefully in his home in Newnan on Wednesday morning, May 28, 2025 after a long battle with dementia.

William was born on May 18, 1938 to Wilner and Ione Seegar in Anniston, Alabama with an older sister, Charlon (1935) and a twin sister, Diane. He spent his childhood between Anniston, Alabama and LaGrange, Georgia where he graduated from LaGrange high school.

As a member of the Freemasons and the Marine Corps, William had a strong sense of community. He was known as a man that would always immediately jump to help others in any way possible. William loved working with his hands and used his creativity for many different paths. He built his own home and workshop, he loved working on and racing his cars, he built show Harley Davidson motorcycles, and he built more than one Ford Mustang piece by piece. He had an immense love for cars and motorcycles and spent the majority of his career working for Ford motor Company in Hapeville, Georgia where he retired in 1996.

William is survived by his wife Brenda (who still resides in the home they built together) and his twin sister Diane Douthit. He was preceded in death by his older sister, Charlon Seegar, and brother-in-law, Troy Douthit. He leaves behind a legacy of three adult children: Wendy Henson (Kenny), William Seegar Jr. (Jenny), and Patricia Plowman (Sean), as well as seven grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

William was loved for his jolly spirit, giving heart, hard-working attitude, and persevering nature. A graveside memorial service will be held at a later date. Condolences may be expressed online at www.mckoon.com
